(54) METHOD FOR ANNOUNCING ORIGINATING USER OF MOBILE WIRELESS TERMINAL

(57) Abstract:

PURPOSE: A method for announcing an originating user of a mobile wireless terminal is provided to announce a user of an originating party, when a paging message is received in the mobile wireless terminal.

CONSTITUTION: If a paging message is received, a controller(110) checks whether an originating telephone number of the paging message is registered in a function announcing an originating user. If the originating telephone number is not registered in the function announcing an originating user, the controller(110) performs processing in a same system with a conventional method. If the originating telephone number is registered in the function announcing an originating user, the controller(110) displays corresponding image, photo and character data through a display unit(120).
